

SUMMER ON MY MIND

A SEASONAL E-ZINE BY THE STORY KEPT

Playlist | Cocktails | Coffee | Books | Interiors

WELCOME

Welcome, my friend!

This is the first issue of the seasonal e-zine that I hope to bring to you four times each year.

As I write this at the cusp of the season change, summer is on my mind and feels at the tip of my fingertips. I've been revelling in what feels like the first 'normal' times in years here in Vancouver, and am so looking forward to the outdoor markets, patio drinks, and beachside picnics that 2022 has in store for us.

In this edition, I'm sharing a fun summer playlist, a fruity cocktail recipe, a sweet way to enjoy your morning coffee, a featured famous interior, and—of course—the seasonal book club pick.

Enjoy!

a Sarah

- 1. July Noah Cyrus
- 2. Tadow Masego, FKJ
- 3. The Bird Anderson .Paak
- 4. Strangers Mt. Joy
- 5. The Less I Know the Better Tame Impala
- 6. The Woman in You Ben Harper
- 7. Dream Girl Evil Florence + The Machine
- 8. The Chain Fleetwood Mac
- 9. Shadowboxer Fiona Apple
- 10. Halah Mazzy Star
- 11. Either Way Wilco
- 12. Pretty (Ugly Before) Elliott Smith
- 13. (Sittin' On) the Dock of the Bay Otis Redding
- 14. Dreams Fleetwood Mac

COCKTAIL

The paloma is a summer favourite of mine. Substituting grapefruit for lime, it packs slightly more flair than a typical margarita. To make my go-to recipe: Rim your favourite cocktail glass with course salt and fill the glass with ice. Add 2 oz of tequila and 1/2 oz of lime juice. Top off with grapefruit soda (my favourite is Jarritos) and garnish with a slice of lime.

Click here to see gorgeous vintage glassware perfect for your summer cocktails.

Admittedly, I was inspired to try a Café Cubano= because of this Tik Tok video.

While I love a strong, bitter coffee, the summer months call for the indulgence of a little sugar. For a simple work morning cuppa, simply add brown sugar to your ground coffee, pull an espresso shot as you usually would.

The result is a slightly-sweetened, simple brew. I love to top it off with a frothed milk, but if you have a few extra minutes go ahead and make your own sweet crema (cream). (Click here for the more complex recipe I enjoyed on a Sunday morning.)

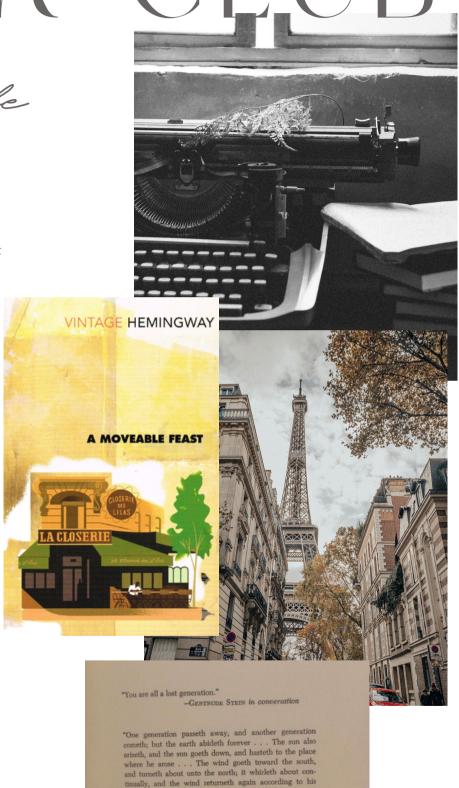

BOOK

a moveable geast

A Moveable Feast by Ernest Hemingway strikes me as the perfect read for the summer of 2022. The book of essays includes the same brutal elegance of Hemingway's fiction prose, but features true recollections of his time in Paris with first wife Hadley in the 1920s.

Hemingway's "lost generation" as coined by Gertrude Stein also feels fitting for post-Covid Millennial life. For while Hemingway and his contemporaries were carefree with their words and strolls along the Seine, they, too, were fresh out of a period of darkness, unknowingly and hurtling towards another.

Join me and read A Moveable Feast throughout the warmer months. Watch out for a literary-inspired collection in the shop, and more book discussions on Instagram and in my newsletter.

circuits. . . . All the rivers run into the sea; yet the sea is not full; unto the place from whence the rivers come,

-Ecclesiastes

thither they return again."

hemingway house

Fittingly, this season's featured home is Hemingway House in Key West, Florida. Consider Florida and (at least in my imaginings) you may think of dramatic maximalism and tropical poolsides. But Hemingway House, the Colonial purchased in 1931 by Hemingway and his second wife Pauline Pfeiffer, perfectly marries eclecticism, colour, and simplicity.

Read this Domino article and swoon over the salvaged gate-turned-headboard, wraparound balcony with canary-yellow shutters, and, of course, the writer's studio. Naturally, though, interiors aside, the pièce de résistance of this estate is the six-toed cats.

THANK YOU

Sarah
curator & shopkeeper

(a) @thestorykept

E thestorykept.etsy.com

thestorykept.substack.com

Thank you for reading this seasonal ezine. I hope it inspired you to slow down, look around, and appreciate the beauty of the season.

If you enjoyed these pages, I'd love to invite you to explore my vintage shop, follow along on Instagram, and subscribe to my newsletter.

